

would mean an average monthly wage of about $125 for all employees, but such an average means, of course, that while some workers would earn a sum considerably in excess of the monthly amount stated, many thousands would fall far short of that figure.

The provisions of the announced reductions follow:
Conductors, ticket collectors, brakemen, flagmen and baggage men in passenger service are cut $15 a month, in freight service these classes were reduced 64 cents per day.
Engineers, firemen and helpers in passenger service are cut 48 cents per day and in freight service 54 cents per day.
Maintenance of way, structural and unskilled forces are cut from 7 1/2 to 10 cents per hour. Approximately 600,000 unskilled railroad laborers receive a cut of 8 1/2 cents per hour. These classes are hardest hit by the decision, because the decrease is the same amount they were raised last year.

Shop Employees.
Shop employees, including machinists, boiler makers, blacksmiths, carmen, sheet metal and electrical workers are cut 5 cents per hour.
Telegraphers, station agents at non-telegraph stations and telephone operators are cut 5 and 6 cents per hour.
All signal department employees receive a reduction of from 6 to 8 cents per hour and all employees on railroad ferries, tugs, steam lighters and barges are also given a decreased monthly rate; train dispatchers received an 8 cent hourly reduction and yard masters the same.
Thousands of miscellaneous employees, including supervisors and workmen not classified, are given the same cut as those classes to which their employment is the most closely analogous.
In summing up its reasons for granting the carriers cuts, the board notes a decrease in the cost of living and decreases in wages for similar kinds of work in other industries.

Strike Not Likely.
The railroad labor unions, it can be stated, have no idea of resorting to a strike in an attempt to prevent the wage reductions going into effect. Industrial conditions, and the great amount of unemployment, it is feared, would make a successful strike difficult.
Nor is it likely that unions will resist the board's decree by seeking an injunction, as they had planned if the decision were considered too unfavorable to be accepted under any conditions. It was argued that the board, in making its decision, acted not on evidence, but on its general knowledge of conditions, and without properly considering arguments of the workers. Legal experts of the unions had decided this made the decision subject to review by a higher court, with the possibility of reversal.
Some labor leaders still favor seeking an injunction, but the majority are opposed to it, and their counsel will probably prevail.
But the unions have other weapons, and it is expected they will use these. Each railroad now must negotiate separate working agreements with its employees, national agreements having been dissolved by a previous decision of the board. There are scores of these agreements to be made, with the railroad labor board acting as umpire in case of disagreement.
Injunction Removed.
It is predicted the board will be swamped with appeals.
It is further predicted that in a majority of instances the men will hold out against wage reductions in the negotiation of the separate agreements. Now that the board has made its decision, the legal injunction against strikes is removed. The employees of a single road, labor leaders point out, could go on strike independently of the employees on other roads. These strikers, it is argued, would embarrass the individual roads and would be less likely to fail than a general strike. At the same time they would not arouse widespread public approval, and would not be likely to bring about governmental interference.
While one road would be tied up, its competitor would be getting business. This, labor leaders believe, would be likely to bring about quicker settlements.
But the unions would serve a double purpose. They would resist wage cuts, and at the same time exert an influence in the making of the national agreements for which the unions contended.
Classified Reductions.
Reductions per hour for the various classes of employees under the decision are as follows:
Clerical and station forces.
Storekeepers, chief clerks and clerical supervisory forces, 6 cents.
Clerks (two or more years experience), 6 cents.
Clerks (more than one and less than two years experience), 13 cents.

CHURCH FUND DRIVE PROVES SUCCESSFUL

The final campaign for funds for a new building that has just come to a close at the Wheat Street Baptist church was one of the most successful that this church has ever held. The contest was between the women members of the church and the men, and the rivalry between the two groups reached a most enthusiastic pitch. The men of the church last Sunday night, several hundred strong, marched in one odor with money in their hands, and the women entered through another door holding their contributions over their heads. When the final count was made Monday morning it was found that the women had raised in cash $3,487.71 and the men had raised $3,487.41, making a total in cash raised in this special effort for the new church $6,975.12.

From Scotland it is reported that a broody hen is mothering a small pig. Eggs and bacon generally do go together.

New York, May 31.—A strike of photo engravers employed in the 17 newspaper plants of New York city and all commercial printing establishments making photographs for newspapers was ordered late today.

by Photo Engravers' Union No. 1. It becomes effective tomorrow morning. This action was taken when an ultimatum demanding immediate signature of a contract with a flat wage increase of $5 weekly was refused by the publishers. The present agreement calls for a minimum wage for $35 for a 44-hour week for day work and $60 for night work. Employees of commercial plants receive $5 less per week.

MATERIALS ARRIVING FOR GAS IMPROVEMENT

Of the total amount of $540,000 already spent or contracted for in the program of the Georgia Railway and Power company for general improvements, overhauling and installations to secure greater efficiency in the city's gas service systems, the arrival in Atlanta of material and equipment amounting to $40,000 marks another step in the movement being undertaken by this company.

President Arkwright of the Georgia Railway and Power company states that appropriations have been made far in excess of those actually necessitated in order to elevate the standard of service to the highest possible point.

A complete summary of existing conditions has been mapped out and installations and new additional improvements will be carried out according to specifications.

Review of Equipment.
A review of the equipment already installed and the improvements in service already secured, as outlined by Mr. Arkwright, are as follows:
In the coal gas plant, 11 hoppers have been overhauled and a new charging machine, a waste heat boiler, a new standpipe system and two coal gas exhausters have been installed.

A new water gas machine, valued at $60,000 and having a daily capacity of 3,000,000 cubic feet, is now being set up. Two 250-horsepower motor blower sets for water gas, a new Thomas meter, a Doherty washer cooler, for purifying and condensing water gas, and one cylindrical and two rectangular purifiers have been put in.

Two Ingersoll-Rand compressors have been installed and are being used to force gas to the College Park and East Point sections. To force gas throughout East Atlanta, Druid Hills, Decatur, West End and Ansley Park sections, two DeLaval steam turbine pushers have been put in. The installation of a skip hoist and conveyor and new ash screens have been completed.

Increasing Pressure.
For increasing gas pressure in the central and Grant park sections a new low pressure booster is now in operation.

A new two-story concrete building is nearly completed. The first floor will accommodate the compressors and pushers; the second will contain a modern locker room, with showers, for the use of employees.

Other proposed new installations are as follows:
For transforming pressure, governor stations will be provided at several locations. There are three kinds of pressure used in supplying gas to consumers—low pressure, where only a few ounces are employed, intermediate, with about five pounds, and high pressure, with maximum of 50 pounds.

The intermediate pressure system at North Avenue and Bedford place has been extended to supply the Virginia Avenue and Highland Avenue sections. In West End the intermediate pressure installation is nearly completed.

Extend Trunk Mains.
Trunk mains are being extended to improve the pressure in the Grant park section.

A 10-inch main is being extended from Boulevard Park to Piedmont Avenue and from Piedmont Avenue to the end of Ansley Park, to increase the pressure in the extreme northern end of Ansley Park.

Part of the gas main system on the west side of Lullwater bridge in the Druid Hills section is being transformed from low pressure to intermediate. This change requires the laying of a 12-inch main in North Decatur road from Lullwater road to Brinkley. A governor station will also be installed. This will increase the gas pressure in all of the Druid Hills section west of Lullwater bridge, and north of Ponce de Leon Avenue.

ENDORSE VIADUCT ON SPRING STREET

By unanimous vote the city planning commission at a meeting Tuesday morning, adopted the original Spring street viaduct plan. This plan was adopted to after the commission had studied a report submitted last week by engineers of the railroad that would be affected, urging that the viaduct be erected at Cone street, a location they declared more feasible than Spring.

Recommendations were also adopted to bring to the attention of officials of the federal reserve bank the need of reserving a strip on the east side of its property adjacent to its present building for the future viaduct from Madison avenue to Cone street.

That the chief of construction be requested to submit to the commission plans and estimates of cost for the construction of viaducts over the railroad tracks at Pryor street and Central avenue. These recommendations were made to the commission in a report submitted by Robert H. Whitten, expert consultant retained by the city. He also urged serious consideration by the commission, the state and the railroad of the proposed "plaza" plan prepared some years ago by the engineering firm of Barclay, Parsons & Klapp.

In this plan a plaza or parkway over the present railroad tracks, from Central avenue to Spring street, and a single passenger terminal for all railroads located at about the site of the present W. & A. roundhouse, is proposed.

Whitten's Report. Mr. Whitten's report adopted Tuesday is as follows: To the City Planning Commission: There is at present urgent need for additional north and south traffic routes to relieve congestion in the heart of the city. There are at present four viaducts over the railroad tracks in the one-half mile stretch from the Washington street viaduct to Spring street. There are also two grade crossings at Central avenue and at Pryor street. Immediate traffic needs demand the erection of viaducts to eliminate these two crossings at grade. Pryor street and Central avenue and the construction of a new route over the railroad tracks somewhere west of Pryor street. Ultimately and probably in the near future it will be necessary to supplement these viaducts by any additional routes that it is possible to secure. It seems certain that in this one-half mile stretch the traffic of the future city will demand the maximum number of through north and south routes.

In the section between Pryor street and Spring street there is but one practical outlet for a new route to the south—Madison avenue. Madison avenue could be widened on the west side to approximately 110 feet and extended through to a direct connection with Whitehall street at or near its intersection with Pryor street.

In the section between Pryor street and Spring street there are two possible outlets for new routes to the north, one at Cone street and one at Spring street. Both of these routes, if built in width, will eventually be needed to balance the traffic capacity of Madison avenue which is widened and extended.

The present bond issue provides for a viaduct to Spring street. This was logical in that Spring street extends northerly for three miles. It has been pointed out that Cone street can be made to serve as the southerly extension of Spring street, but this will be at considerable expense for the purchase of property both for the Carnegie way extension and for its extension southerly through the property of the Federal Reserve bank. Moreover, Spring street has recently been paved and widened between Cone street and Marietta street. Also as compared with Cone street route, it states a greater westerly extension of the business district.

Terminal Requirements. In the above construction of viaducts and of the proposed Spring street viaduct in particular has been considered with reference to street traffic requirements chiefly. But the railroad terminals are even more fundamental in the city's development than is its thoroughfare plan. On this problem the city is fortunate in having a carefully prepared study and report by Barclay, Parsons & Klapp, a firm of consulting engineers, who have made a specialty of railway terminal and rapid transit construction work. Their report, dated July 8, 1910, and a supplemental report dated September 15, 1910, presents a carefully worked out plan for the relocation of the central railway freight and passenger terminals, the improvement of street traffic routes over the present railroad tracks and the general improvement and beautification of a plaza or parkway over the present railroad tracks from Central avenue to Spring street.

A single passenger terminal for all railroads is proposed, located at about the site of the present Western and Atlantic roundhouse. New freight terminal for the Central of Georgia, the Western and Atlantic and the Seaboard Air Line roundhouses, located west of the new union terminal passenger station, between Halsey and Elliott streets. As a general plan for possible ultimate development, this plan should undoubtedly have serious consideration by the city, the state and the railroad. Nothing should be done now that will seriously interfere with the plans of the railroad. The other study and conference determines it to be practical and desirable. Such study and conference should be completed as soon as possible. There is no quick method of solving the problem, but it can be worked out. In the meantime the commission should proceed with the development of its general plan, and the study of the railroad and playground plans all of which will be of considerable assistance in the final working out of the railway terminal plans. It will also be necessary in the meantime to proceed with various construction projects, bearing in mind all the time that all plans and all work must be harmonized and as far as possible, harmonized with and should in no case actually block the fundamental plans of the railroad. Plans are being developed or are under consideration in the office of the chief of construction or outlined in the Barclay, Parsons & Klapp report.

The Barclay, Parsons & Klapp report recommends strongly the extension of a route southerly from Cone street, also the elimination of the crossings at grade on Pryor street and Central avenue. The office of the chief of construction has also recommended the extension of the route from Cone street. The erection of a Spring or Cone street viaduct, as the location is proposed, could not seriously interfere with any fundamental plans of the railroad. It is far disclosed in the work of the office of the chief of construction or in the commission report by Barclay, Parsons & Klapp.

It is recommended: 1. That the commission tentatively approve the construction of a viaduct having its southerly terminus in Spring street on the easterly side of its property for the future extension of the route from Cone street. 2. That the chief of construction in his design of the Spring street viaduct should be requested to consider also a future viaduct from Madison avenue to Cone street. 3. That the chief of construction be requested to submit to the commission plans and estimates of cost for the construction of viaducts over the railroad tracks on Pryor street and Central avenue. Respectfully submitted, ROBERT H. WHITTEN, Consultant.

Atlanta Ad Men To Meet Miami On the Diamond

Flushed with their victory over the Kiwanis club baseball team, the Atlanta Admen are tackling big bear. Arrangements have been made to play the Miami Advertising club at Ponce de Leon park the afternoon of Saturday, June 11, with the proceeds to go to the convention entertainment fund. It will be remembered that the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World held their annual gathering here the week of June 12-18, and the ball game, besides providing the opening event of the session, will create a good fund with which to royally entertain the thousands of visitors who are coming from all over the country.

R. J. Spiller, boss of the Crackers, has volunteered the use of Poncey without charge, and has also stated that he will give 50 per cent of the profits realized that day from the sale of soft drinks, cushions, etc. A number of business houses have gone on record as making splendid donations of articles to be sold or raffled on the grounds, so a tidy sum should be obtained in this way. The Atlanta Advertising club is making extensive preparations for the reception of the guests who will journey to Atlanta for the annual confab of the advertising men. Plans call for a big chicken dinner at East Lake & Barbours at Lakewood, to be given by the Fulton county commissioners; a stunts' night at the Auditorium, and dances in great numbers. LeRoy Rogers is chairman of the entertainment committee. The Ad club's baseball team is fully aware of the fact that a real opponent is to be met in Miami. The Florida Inch Hounds vanquished the Atlanta East Coast league nine a short time ago by 8 to 7, and are coming to Atlanta primed for this game. Atlanta's representatives have been working out diligently, and this Saturday will meet the Frank E. Block company team in a practice game out at Marietta field.

ferred until the second coming of the trustees, which will be held after the commencement exercises Wednesday.

Approximately $6,000 was raised for the school in the A. M. E. churches in the state, according to the reports of the presiding elders. The election of a secretary will be one of the interesting matters to be settled at the Wednesday meeting. Bishop Slipper Tuesday requested that no one be named as secretary who is not a college graduate. It was predicted that Rev. W. E. Lawrence, of Columbus, will be named secretary.

President J. R. Hawkins, of the financial department of the A. M. E. church, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., delivered an address on the progress of the $5,000,000 drive. After delivering his speech, he left on an afternoon train for Washington.

Degrees of D. D. were conferred on Rev. H. H. Long, Dublin; Rev. M. R. Dixon, Mississippi; Rev. A. H. Hill, Shorter college, Arkansas; and Rev. M. T. Robinson.

Rev. M. R. Dixon delivered an address before the Alumni association in the college chapel Tuesday night. The graduating exercises will be held in Bethel church at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Dr. L. ## When Bookkeepers

"Ruled Their Own"

BACK in the days when quill pens scratched and spluttered, it was not possible to buy journals, ledgers, and day-books with ruled pages. When columns were needed, bookkeepers had to "rule their own."

The bookkeeper of today writes with smoothly flowing pen upon pages ruled by machinery, and most of the drudgery has been taken from his ancient and honorable calling by Loose Leaf methods and Loose Leaf books.

National Loose Leaf Books are used in the accounting departments of such institutions as the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad, United Fruit Co., and Henry L. Doherty & Co.

ALLEGED SLAYER JAILED IN TOWER

James Douglas, Charged With Killing Walker County Sheriff, Brought to Atlanta.

James S. Douglas, the young coal miner charged with the murder of Sheriff A. G. Catron, of Walker county, who was shot to death by liquor runners early last Saturday morning, was brought Tuesday night to the Fulton Tower for safe-keeping by Walker county authorities, following his surrender during the morning to a posse of officers near Vulcan.

Douglas proclaimed his innocence, and announced that he will be able to establish a complete alibi when he is brought to trial. At the time of the shooting, he was visiting sick relatives several miles from the scene, he declared. Douglas is a typical mountaineer. He is 24 years old, and has a wife and child, he stated. His only reason for feeling from home, he claimed, was that friends had informed him that he was under suspicion, and that a mob, armed with shot-guns, was approaching his house, with the intention of shooting him on sight. From Sunday noon until Monday night he went without food. Monday night he conferred with friends, who advised him to surrender, which he did Tuesday. He had made several attempts, it is said, during the three days to break through the cordons of searchers that had been drawn around the mountain where he was hiding. Willis Birt, the other man wanted, is still at large, but according to information from LaFayette, in Walker county, officers claim to have information as to his whereabouts and his arrest is expected momentarily. Sheriff Catron was shot on Look-out mountain, near Chattanooga, early Saturday morning, and died during the afternoon. The shoot-

HOSPITAL AT GORDON HAS FIGHTING CHANCE

Atlanta has a "fighting chance" to retain Camp Gordon as a public health service hospital in the opinion of United States Senator William J. Harris, who was in Atlanta a short time Tuesday on his way home from Washington. He declared General Sawyer, of the health service, is heartily supporting the project and expressed belief that there is an excellent chance for congressional approval of the movement.

"I believe the idea is gaining favor in both houses of congress," Senator Harris said. "It would be foolish for me to say the outcome is assured because it is a hard fight all the way round, but we have a splendid fighting chance to obtain the hospital for Atlanta."

Discussing the proposal to establish a third federal district court in Georgia, the senator declared he had received information that both the present courts have more business now than they can handle and that he is satisfied if the court record verifies what has been said to him by court officials and others a third court will be created. "The volume of business before the two federal courts in Georgia is so large that it is virtually impossible for two judges to handle it," Senator Harris declared. "Nearly every other state the size of Georgia has the same amount of business as Georgia has three federal judges. The resultant benefit to the people through the creation of the additional court in the speedy dispatch of justice would justify its creation by congress."

Senator Harris said he is asking the co-operation of the members of the Georgia delegation in congress in trying to arrive at a proper basis for division of the northern and southern districts so that the middle district can be created. "One of the important developments in congress recently has been the formation of a coalition of senators representing the agricultural sections of the west and south, according to Senator Harris. "In the near future a strong effort will be made by this coalition to pass legislation permitting long-term agricultural loans by the federal reserve banks and further reducing the discount rate," he said.

ATLANTA KIWANIS CLUB WILL SEND BIG DELEGATION

The "On-to-Cleveland" club of local Kiwanians now numbers about 75 men. Several new delegates to the International Kiwanis convention in Cleveland this month were secured at Tuesday's luncheon. The members drew tickets in the weekly raffle of round trip tickets, one of which was given personally by Simon Self.

As the time for the convention approaches interest increases in the weekly ticket contests. Purchases were made Tuesday in bunches of 10 and 20, and the tickets sell for 50 cents each. The only condition attached to a winner of the ticket is that he makes the trip himself and does not transfer the ticket. This plan of stimulating interest in the trip is being adopted by other clubs in the south.

In the absence of President Walter Harris, Robert S. Westons, president, presided. Miss Harriett Small, contralto soloist for the First Presbyterian church, offered a selection, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Chalmers.

Walter Hiers, the fat comedian from Cordele, who is appearing in person at a local theater, was a special guest, and amused the gathering with his flow of wit. "Yes, it's true that I'm from Cordele," he said, "but I had to leave so that the town could grow some."

CHARITIES SEEKS FUND TO SUPPORT DESTITUTE FAMILY

The Associated Charities need $75 for a family sick and in destitute condition. The two boys, five and seven years old, ask Atlantians to give them a chance in life. Their father is suffering from diabetes, their mother has mouth trouble of an aggravating sort, and the house they now live in will be sold at auction June 3.

Diabetes has prevented the father from regular work since 1914. $75 will take this family safely through the summer months, and by that time the Associated Charities hope to be able to make provision for them.

LAWYERS ARE ENGAGED BY HOMER THOMPSON

Homer Thompson, the slayer of Ernest Brown, near Panthersville, in DeKalb county, some months ago, has employed Chappell & Raulo, Atlanta attorneys, to defend him. The line of defense will probably not be made known until the trial of the week of June 13.

It is understood that relatives of Ernest Brown, the victim, have employed ex-congressman William Schley Howard to assist Solicitor-General A. L. Brand of the Stone Mountain circuit.

The defense will offer some interesting developments," said Mr. Chappell. "The public has not had all the truth in this case, as all that has been said has come from the prosecution. The defense asks the public to withhold its judgment until it has heard both sides, at which time the defendant will be glad for the public to form its opinion."

"Dear Brutus"

M. R. BARRIE has written a play with the title we have used above. It is based upon the Shakespearean lines from Julius Caesar—"The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, but in ourselves, that we are underlings."

THE other day we read an announcement pasted on a window of one of Mr. Arkwright's flivvers. It read, in effect, that the Georgia Railway and Power Co. were beginning the publication of a paper devoted to Atlanta and Georgia, to the further and greater development of our resources. Good idea. Deserves widespread publicity and emulation.

THESE few thoughts were provoked by what has been going on at Rich's during the past thirty days. Last night there came to an end a month of most remarkable business. The 54th Anniversary closed—the most successful in our history. In ordinary times no special or undue significance would attach to that. Everyone would have expected it. It seems that these are not ordinary times. Rumors are abroad that they are abnormal; or, to use the language of the street, they are "sub-normal." If any one should ask our opinion about that, we would say that it is a slander. To be more polite about it, it is a fiction!

VERY true, cotton is "off," and this and that trouble do affect all of us. But these are the ills of an age of transition to something better, finer and more abundant. They are remedial.

THE point is, suppose we had been affected by all this last spring when we began preparations for the 54th Anniversary. The Sale would have failed. That is all. But we did not allow it to affect us. As a matter of fact we deliberately blinded ourselves and went to work with singing heart and high hopes. Our faith in Atlanta, in Georgia, and in ourselves was undimmed and unshaken.

TAKING a half million dollars to New York, we bought until they said we were mad. Events justified us. Atlanta responded. The Anniversary was a success.

THE moral is that the resources of the city are boundless and the potentialities of the state almost infinite. It only remains for us to work to realize them! Perhaps the purse-y times of the war and after spoiled us. It was too easy. Let us now change from the philosophy of Omar Khayyam to that of the self-reliant Emerson and the buoyant, boundless Whitman. Let us work!

TO the public who responded so splendidly and generously to our efforts, we extend our profound thanks.

TO our storepeople who have worked with such inspiring devotion—our thanks.

TO the newspapers who have co-operated so wonderfully—their printers especially, whose working hours are spent in the very cockpit of modern business, the composing room—our thanks.

AND we here pledge ourselves anew to continue our activities, to broaden their scope and to amplify them in accordance with the Rich idea—which is, to serve the public by enabling it to save!

SUBURB MAY JOIN CITY OF ATLANTA

Kirkwood citizens interested in the proposal to annex Kirkwood to Atlanta will meet at 8 o'clock Thursday evening in the Kirkwood schoolhouse, to consider the matter.

The committee calling the meeting is composed of H. P. Gilliam and L. J. Cassella, former mayors of Kirkwood, and A. N. Gooch, Joseph Janney, Councilman of J. R. Bachman and T. H. Woodhouse.

A mass meeting of the citizens of Kirkwood has been called to meet at the Kirkwood schoolhouse auditorium at 8 p. m. Thursday, June 3, to discuss the matter of annexation to the city of Atlanta.

The people of Kirkwood fully realize that the city of Atlanta is destined to become the greatest city in the south, and that it is now on the verge of a great educational and industrial development, and they believe that, now the city of Atlanta has indicated a willingness to receive them, so time should be lost in letting the legislature and city council of Atlanta know that the residents and taxpayers of Kirkwood are almost unanimous in favor of this step in the direction of progress. They desire that their children may have the opportunity of taking advantage of the educational facilities of Greater Atlanta.

"Kirkwood is now virtually a part of Atlanta, there being merely an imaginary line between the two cities, and 80 per cent of the citizens of Kirkwood are making their livelihood in Atlanta. The free mail delivery is already through the city of Atlanta postoffice. Kirkwood has an adequate water and sewerage system, covering entire town, and practically all of the streets are now graded and many of the streets and sidewalks are paved. The city is served by the same telephone company and the same street car system that Atlanta and the greater part of Kirkwood is nearer Five Points than much of the present territory of Atlanta.

"Kirkwood is remodeling its old school building and is now erecting a modern, fireproof school building, which will be completed in time for the fall session.

"The citizens of Kirkwood have become convinced that co-operation between the city of Atlanta and town of Kirkwood will work to the advantage of both municipalities, saving much duplication of effort, thereby lowering the cost of government.

"All citizens and property owners of Kirkwood, who are favorable to the merger, are invited to attend this mass meeting to discuss the matter of annexation to the city of Atlanta, and to vote on the question of annexation to the city of Atlanta.

"It is said that practically all of the former officials of Kirkwood are favoring this movement, and it is understood that the present city government will be governed by the wishes of a majority of the citizens of Kirkwood.

GAS RATE GRANTED ATHENS COMPANY DECLARED TOO LOW

Formal protest against the "reasonableness and fairness" of the new gas rate of $1.50 a thousand cubic feet granted the Athens Gas Light and Fuel company, was filed by that company Tuesday with the state railroad commission. The commission issued an order May 10 permitting the company to increase its gas rate from $1.10 to $1.50 a thousand cubic feet.

In its letter to the commission Tuesday, the Athens company said it wanted to have its formal protest placed on the records of the commission.

"We protest against the reasonableness and fairness of the rates prescribed by the commission as being wholly inadequate to meet actual expenses of operating and permit a fair return upon the value of the property devoted to public use," it was stated in the letter.

The company notified the commission that it made its request so that the company may not be placed in a position of acquiescing in the correctness and accuracy of the rates prescribed, so that compliance shall be without prejudice to the company's right to ask for a rehearing or to take such other action as may be necessary at a later date to secure further increase in rates as will enable the company to continue furnishing its service to the public.

REV. D. M. M'IVER WILL SPEAK TO BURNS CLUB

Rev. D. M. M'iver will speak to the Burns club Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, the meeting to be held at the Burns cottage. An interesting program has been arranged.

Christian Council Plans Campaign To Improve City

Following a banquet, given at the Baptist tabernacle, by the Christian council, on Tuesday evening, resolutions were adopted to start a campaign for the general awakening of civic consciousness.

The program includes the following recommendations:

The maintenance of Sunday as a day of rest and free from commercialism.

"Equal justice for all citizens in the administration of law."

"Rigid enforcement of all laws and ordinances."

"Development of the highest standards of our educational system, public libraries, hospitals, parks and recreation facilities."

"Provision of a constructive program in our penal institutions, including medical examination and treatment of inmates, detention under proper supervision and industrial training."

"Provision of adequate care for the defective and dependents of our city."

This program was brought to the attention of the Evangelical Ministers' and Denominational Ministers' union of the city of Atlanta, which has already adopted a similar program.

The resolution concludes as follows:

"We urge every minister, editor and leader to sound the call to the men and women of our city to awaken a sense of real citizenship; a citizenship which accepts individual responsibility, which wholeheartedly discharges that responsibility, which informs itself regarding existing conditions, and which is determined to bring about service to a program founded upon principle and adapted to our local problems and conditions, and which builds for the future."

PLANS FORMED AMONG CIVITANS TO BOOST ATLANTA

The suggestion made by Forrest Adair at the recent meeting of the Civitan club that Atlanta and Atlanta products be "boosted" has already resulted in activities of great scope. Several plans for formulating a persistent campaign have been unofficially discussed by those who will ultimately be in charge of the promotion. One of these, it is considered, will crystallize into a permanent institution. At present, the idea is embryonic, but it will be developed rapidly and all details announced.

As the date of the first annual convention of Civitan clubs at Birmingham draws nearer, enthusiasm grows. Each day the list of delegates who will represent Atlanta is augmented. To represent the city of Atlanta, Park Dallis, who heads the convention committee, The Civitans will convene on Sunday for their comfort an entire floor of the Tutwiller hotel has been reserved.

Delegates from Tampa, Savannah, Jacksonville, Miami, Asheville and St. Petersburg have accepted the invitation of the Atlanta Civitan club to spend a day in the city on their way to Birmingham. For their entertainment, provision has been made for a breakfast at the Ansley automobile rides, and a chicken dinner at Stone Mountain.

Among the delegates to be entertained by the Atlanta Civitan club are Ernest Greenwood, official from the international labor office of the League of Nations, and the Warrington Motor company, both of Washington.

M'INTOSH TO SPEAK AT THURSDAY MEET OF AD CLUB MEN

Charles H. Mackintosh, international chairman of the World's Advertising Club's committee on education and on advertising exhibits, will be the main speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the advertising club Thursday at 12:30 o'clock in the Kimball house breakfast room. Mr. Mackintosh is here to remain until the conclusion of the world's convention of advertising clubs, which will convene in Atlanta the week of June 12, in order that he may personally direct the arrangement of advertising exhibits for the convention in Tarr hall. This exhibit will be the largest of its kind ever put on by the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

Mr. Mackintosh will tell members of the local ad club of impressions gathered from his previous experience in connection with holding advertising conventions. Upon the conclusion of his speech the meeting will be turned over to members of the club for discussion of ways and means of insuring the success of the convention.

SLIGHTLY COOLER WEATHER COMING, SAYS FORECASTER

Wednesday will be fair and somewhat cooler than the past several days, according to an opinion rendered Tuesday by J. F. von Herrmann, local weather forecaster. This slight drop in temperature may be ascribed to the fact that atmospheric pressure is high over the northern section of the country, causing a slight drift of air from the north to be felt as far south as Oklahoma in the west.

Atlanta is fortunate in having such comfortable nights on which to slumber, says Mr. von Herrmann, calling attention to the oppressive heat now being felt in the central Mississippi and Ohio valleys.

Reports from all sections of the country indicate dryness, only a few widely-separated stations reporting light showers Tuesday, the heaviest precipitation being 1.18 inches at Des Moines, Iowa.

Mr. von Herrmann declines to make public his present conjectures concerning Atlanta's weather future after today.

Public demand cries for continued cool nights, a twinkle in his eye, and there seems to be but little margin for error in his forecast. However, I promise to do my best for Thursday.

QUOTAS ARE EXCEEDED BY GEORGIA CHURCHES

Reports received by J. H. Ewing, executive director of the North Georgia conference, show that many of the churches in the conference drive for its quota of $175,000 of the $250,000 educational fund of the Methodist church, have raised more than their individual quotas. These church reports, it is hoped, will cause the other churches of the conference to do as well.

Reports from the following towns and churches have been received: Druid Hills, quota, $25,000, amount raised, $30,000; Emory university, quota $14,000, raised $10,000; Decatur, Ga., quota $15,000, raised $16,500; Lawrenceville, Ga., quota, $8,500, raised $7,000; St. Luke's church, quota, $1,500, raised $1,800; Inglewood, Ga., quota, $1,500, raised $1,800; Inman Park, Asworth and LaFayette, Ga., and Oakland Street church raised their quotas.

LADIES TO GIVE DINNERS TO HELP REBUILD CHURCH

To help rebuild the Georgia Avenue Presbyterian church, which was recently damaged by fire, the ladies auxiliary of the church will serve plate lunches at the Billy Sunday Business Men's club, on the fourth floor of the Gould building, from 12 to 2 o'clock Wednesday and Thursday.

The women are giving their services free and plenty of home-grown vegetables, cooked in home style, will be served at a nominal cost. It is hoped to raise amount sufficient to begin work on the new church by this process.

FULTON SENIORS GIVE MONEY TO BUY BOOKS

The graduating class of Fulton High school this year gave $75 to the school library, instead of the usual remembrance of a book or a picture. The present was the balance of the class treasury fund, and will be used for the purchase of reference books.

Arthur Mims won one of the two scholarships awarded for excellence in school work, and declined to go, that a classmate could enjoy the benefit of it. Mims was an excellent athlete as well as a scholar.

HARDWICK PLANS TO READ MESSAGE TO LEGISLATURE

Governor-elect Thomas W. Hardwick will deliver several important messages to the legislature in person, he announced Tuesday in discussing his plans for the inauguration and the coming session of the legislature. This action will mark a departure in Georgia, as it has been the custom of governors heretofore to submit their messages in writing.

"I don't expect to appear before the legislature in person every time occasion arises for me to communicate with that body, but it is probable I shall appear in person and address the two branches in joint session on several matters of unusual moment that must be considered and on which I have formed some definite ideas."

In discussing inauguration plans Governor-elect Hardwick said William J. Vreese, of Moultrie, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, would have charge of the program. He said Mr. Vreese would arrive in Atlanta this week to begin work on the plans.

ACIDOSIS COMMON IN GROWN PEOPLE

Health Scientists Now Attribute Most of Our Daily Ills to Acidosis.

Acidosis, the disease that has proven so fatal to infants and children, medical authorities now tell us is more prevalent in adults than in children, but, due to a milk diet, the mortality is highest in infancy. Acidosis is one of the most serious conditions that attack persons of sedentary habits, who are overworked and those advanced in years, and it has been established that the physical fact of death is the final triumph of acids in the blood.

Acidosis attacks any part of the body, and is the cause of many of our daily ailments. If you have indigestion, tongue gets coated, feel nervous or constipated, or if you are old, you will no longer use these old familiar terms, but will now tell you that you have acidosis. These, and many other ailments, such as heartburn, headache, auto-intoxication, skin itching, bad blood, etc., according to later-day science, are not diseases, but merely nature's way of telling you that the blood is poisoned and the body fluids no longer balanced. Your organs can not work properly, or, in other words, that you have acidosis, which is the cause of these other ailments.

You know that a pinch of common cooking soda will relieve indigestion, for the reason that soda for the time being, overcomes acidity, giving temporary relief only. There are numerous remedies for temporarily relieving the effects of acidosis, but they do not remove the acidosis itself, and that is why people have "chronic" indigestion, constipation, bad blood, etc. After the temporary relief of indigestion, constipation, and in order to obtain permanent relief, the cause (acidosis) must be removed.

A chemist of authority on acidosis, after much study and hundreds of tests, has perfected a new remedy called Kelson (pronounced "kelson"). Kelson Blood and Body Builder is recommended as a specific for acidosis. Kelson Blood and Body Builder keeps the blood and body fluids in the proper balance by introducing into the system those various elements which improve the quality of the blood and eliminate the acidity of the body fluids. Kelson Blood and Body Builder reacts any tendency to acidosis, and gives immediate relief to the symptoms. It is taken daily, at bed-time. Any good drug store can supply Kelson at one dollar per bottle. Kelson, Inc., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

PAID TO ATTEND CREDIT COURSE

Hoover in Favor of New Warehouse System for Certificates to Be Basis of Mobile Credit.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN, Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, May 31.—(By Constitution Leased Wire).—The attorney general, through the secretary of commerce, came out flat-footedly not only for the extension of credit facilities to cotton producers through the federal reserve system, but for a system of warehousing that will permit the issuance of certificates that shall be the basis of mobile credit and serve as the actual delivery of cotton.

This is the most advanced step yet taken by any authoritative administration, and it is backed up by the statement that Secretary Hoover is beginning active work in his department in cooperation with the federal reserve to put his views into execution.

The statement of the secretary was taken in a special delivered communication to ex-Senator John L. McLaurin, of South Carolina, who has been in conference with administration leaders relative to industrial and agricultural conditions in the south. The statement follows:

"Hon. J. L. McLaurin, Hotel Occidental, Washington, D. C. I beg to confirm the views I expressed at our conference on the situation in the south. First, I consider it is vital that the credit facilities to producers and legitimate business should now be greatly extended in the southern states. The curtailments through the reserve system have served their purpose in reducing speculation and overplanting, they are now bringing great hardship. This is more a question of volume of credit extended than it is of the rate of interest demanded, and requires the co-operation of both reserve and members banks. I believe member banks are now agreed that this policy is necessary.

"Second, we need better organized export credit machinery. The northern bankers will, I hope, succeed in joint efforts with their southern colleagues, in creating larger institutions under the Edge-law for handling cotton. It appears to me that some measure of safe credit could be established by American banks, and by the operation of warehouses under their own control for delivery to European buyers against cash payments. It appears among producers and bankers could accomplish something in this direction.

"Basis for Mobile Credit. Third, for better marketing and financing of the cotton crop, the warehousing system should be improved so as to permit the issuance of certificates of ownership of such form and character that it cannot only become the basis of mobile credit, but also pass as actual delivery of the cotton. This implies not only guaranties of the cotton, but a complete determination of grade, quality and quantity. This is already current in some states and needs to be extended.

"The prospective much reduced acreage and yield will, I believe, contribute materially to stabilizing the situation over the next year."

(Signed) HERBERT HOOVER, "Secretary of Commerce."

EUROPE PREPARED FOR TRADE REVIVAL

New York, May 31.—All signs in Europe point to an early trade revival, former Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, today told the national consultation conference of American cotton growers, manufacturers and affiliated interests.

The outlook abroad is most encouraging, he said, "and as far as Europe is concerned, all signs are for the better. We can look for some improvement in the next few months and an early trade revival may be expected."

Establishment of a single set of standards of common acceptance throughout the cotton trade on a world basis was urged by W. R. Meadows, of the department of agriculture's bureau of markets in an address today at the conference.

Mr. Meadows said that a step toward attainment of this goal was hoped for through the world cotton conference to be held at Liverpool next month and to be attended by Chester Morrill, assistant chief of the bureau of markets; W. L. Pryor, also of the bureau, and Mr. Meadows. The expected step forward, Mr. Meadows asserted, would consist of an agreement between the department of agriculture and the Liverpool Cotton Association with respect to grades and staple standards for American upland cotton.

The cotton growers, manufacturers and affiliated interests called upon the federal government to aid in the rehabilitation of the cotton industry.

The government was urged in resolutions:

To authorize and grant a more liberal expansion of credits on farm loans.

To lower the federal reserve bank rediscount rate without delay to a figure not in excess of 5 per cent on the rediscounts of farm products and all commercial paper.

To instruct the war finance corporation and the department of commerce to render all possible aid in opening up exports for cotton and other American raw products, so as to stimulate the movement and consumption of such commodities as rapidly as possible.

Restrictions of credits and high rate of rediscount charged on farm loans, the resolution added, "are suffering from unpayable losses in price values and stagnated markets in America and restricted exports. Deflation in farm values, which was by unexpected depreciation upon the country in August, 1920, found the cotton growers with their crops ready for harvest and without power to protect themselves from the debacle of constantly lowering prices."

Hard Times Hit Filmland Rialto; Many Go Hungry

Would-Be Stars of Silver Screen Will Find Impassable Road Today.

Los Angeles, May 31.—If you, pretty lady, and you, young Mr. Hand-some, are thinking of going into the movies, take it out in thinking and continue to brighten the corner where you are.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 motion picture workers in this film metropolis, and in Hollywood are going hungry because of the slump which has descended on the celluloid industry.

Gay young women who arrived here during the days of 1920, when work was plentiful, the studios were working night and day, and salaries and wages were the last consideration, are pawing their clothes to pay for food.

One young picture actor, who has done excellent bits in several well-known pictures within the last year, failed on Hollywood boulevard Tuesday, and on being taken to the hospital admitted he hadn't eaten in three days. He had walked to Universal City and back looking for work.

Fride is keeping many others from making equally astounding admissions. Beautiful young women, who became known throughout the film colony for their extravagance in their halcyon days have sold their automobiles and, bit by bit, are disposing of their jewels, and even clothes, to keep up appearances.

Landladies, who have been feeding movie actors out of work, are desperate, as their bills pile up and no payment is in sight.

Local social workers point out that the temptations placed in the way of hundreds of ambitious young women who have come here to work in the films and are now stranded, are responsible for many distressing cases.

The picture producers blame a part of the present inactivity in the studios on the introduction of foreign films, others, more frank, state that general retrenchment is necessary until business conditions are better.

Found themselves facing bankruptcy values. From an expectancy of $2,500,000,000 for the cotton crop in July, 1920, when cultivation ceased, the growers of that crop sustained a loss of $1,000,000,000, no part of which was recovered. It represented a net loss deducted from the actual cost of production.

It is proposed to have governors of cotton-growing states appoint a commission to work out a plan of co-operation in stabilizing cotton prices.

President Harding's message to the convention pledging the co-operation of the administration in improving conditions in the cotton industry was declared to be one of statesmanship and true Americanism.

The delegates to the world cotton conference in England were urged to present it at that gathering.

A measure was sent to the president thanking him for his interest in the industry.

HARVEY'S RECALL ASKED IN SENATE

Harding Speeches Effective Denunciation of Address of Ambassador to England, Says McKellar.

Washington, May 31.—President Harding was urged to recall Colonel George Harvey, American ambassador in London, in a speech delivered Tuesday by Senator McKellar of Tennessee.

McKellar declared Harvey's recent speech before the pilgrim dinner in London constituted a libel against the American government.

"Harvey is not a fair representative of either our government or our people," said McKellar. "I protest against his being retained and I again express the earnest and patriotic hope that our president will recall him immediately."

Protests against Mr. Harvey are coming in from patriotic men and women throughout the nation.

McKellar interpreted speeches of President Harding on Memorial day and at Hoboken last week as an effective denunciation and criticism of Harvey's declaration that American soldiers were sent to Europe solely for fresh purposes.

Drawing what he termed a deadly parallel of the remarks of the president in the Congressional Record in "reproaching" the ambassador has proved that he is a sincere and honest and patriotic American, Senator McKellar declared.

TEAGLE CHOSEN SHIP BOARD HEAD BY PRESIDENT

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN, Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, May 31.—(By Constitution Leased Wire).—President Harding has settled upon Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company, of New Jersey, as chairman of the United States ship board to succeed Admiral Ben Sigsbee, of Georgia, the incumbent. The question at issue, however, is whether or not Teagle can be induced to accept. That phase of the situation is now being worked upon.

Mr. Teagle is a shipping expert and the president had had practical experience in the problem before the board at this time and was considered, as some of the gravest confronting the nation in a reconstruction program.

That there is a tendency to have the government retire from the shipping business just as soon as it can without impairment to oceanic trade interests, and with the financial robes and the drum government, is apparent to any student of the new administration's policies.

PLANS COMPLETED BY KIBLA TEMPLE FOR CEREMONIAL

Arrangements have been completed for the ceremonial to be staged by Kibla Temple No. 123, Dramatic Order Knights of Kloran, on Monday evening, June 6.

The members of the order will assemble at 6 o'clock at the Pythian castle hall on the top floor Forsyth building.

Dr. Richard M. Eubanks, the royal vizier, has issued orders for the rehearsal of the divan and team.

There will be a banquet at the Anley hotel, reservation having been made for three hundred. ## Truce Ends, Fight In Stillman Case To Start Today

BY SIDNEY B. WHIPPLE, United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, May 31.—The armistice in the Stillman divorce suit ends at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, and the battle will go on before Referee Gleason at Poughkeepsie.

John E. Mack, guardian ad litem for the boy, Guy Stillman, whose parentage is at stake in the action, has asked for a postponement, but other attorneys interested in the case are said to be opposed to delaying the hearing of testimony. Efforts to bring Mr. and Mrs. Stillman together on peace terms have failed miserably, in spite of pressure on both sides by friends of Stillman and influential stockholders in the National City bank.

If the hearing continues, one of the first witnesses to be called will be Frank Murphy, formerly steward of Stillman's great yacht, Modesty.

Another witness who has been heard before, but whose story will be thoroughly refuted at the coming hearing, will be Dr. Hugh L. Russell, the Buffalo chiropractor, who declared at the previous hearing that, prior to the birth of little Guy, Mrs. Stillman had come to him and "confessed" that Fred K. Beauvois, the Canadian Indian guide, was the father of the expected child.

It is expected that Mrs. Stillman's lawyers will launch a bitter attack on his testimony.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth."

"Yet now, at an age over 65, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs."

INDIANS' SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH

Mr. Brittain certified further: "At a time when I had become discouraged at trying to grow my hair again, I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asserted would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days."

True Hair Grower at Last

"That I was astonished and happy in expressing my state of mind. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the then mysterious pomade. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle, for preparing this, now called KOTALKO, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist. That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved."

Large Lead Is Not Big Enough And Crackers Drop Final Battle FOR BAMBINO

Kauffman Uses Three Pitchers—Home Runs Big Feature of Free-Hitting Struggle.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 31.—(Special.)—Johnny Suggs went in the box in the seventh inning to day with the bases full and the Shays hit the first ball the southpaw pitched fast over left field fence before the astonished fans could realize it. The Lookouts had transformed a 4-1 lead into a 5-1 lead, a triumph for the home team. The Crackers made one more run in the ninth inning and Kauffman was on first with the tying run on base when Fred Graft's brave bid for a three-base hit, a savage lunge was just low enough for Ralph Croil to grab it in the last out, the game ended 11-10. Pierson started for the Crackers and after seven woeful innings gave way to Bedgood in the midst of a fierce bombardment. Bedgood stayed in just long enough to pass one man and put the run on that placed the locals one ahead.

We Register.
With one out the first Guyon was pinked, stole second and scored on Ritter's smack to center. Ritter in turn scored on Mayers' hit to the same vicinity. Kauffman was passed and Graft hit a long drive over the left center fence for the circuit, scoring three runs. In the last half, Croil hit. Shay took one in the sixth and passed to Anderson and scored. Bratchi hit to Stow who threw low to Ritter and two runs scored. The Crackers counted four more in the second. Pierson hit, Stow and Guyon beat their bunts. Ritter hit to center, two scoring. Mayers sacrificed and Kauffman's safety to right scored two more. After that, the Crackers rested but the Lookouts got one in the third on a pass to Shay, who was forced by Anderson, and Fiedler's hot one to right which hopped over Guyon's head for a triple. Pierson seemed about to blow the works, passing the next two, but then pulled out. Shay started the fateful seventh with a double to left field and Anderson hit over the fence. Bratchi to hit, Fiedler beat a scratch. Nederkorn slapped a single to center scoring Bratchi. A pass to Osborn filled the bases with three over and still none out and Bedgood went in. He was lucky on the first drive, Wingfield forcing Osborn. George barely beat the throw to first. The Crackers raising a big kick on a decision that would have retired the side and saved the game, but Cunningham was ruled out. Fiedler scored on the play. Bedgood then passed Croil, filling the bases again, and was jerked. Shay hit the first ball pitched by Suggs far over the fence, the throw to first, making the total runs for the inning eight.

The Crackers threw a scare into the locals in the ninth. Cunningham hit Ritter and was replaced by Boone. Ritter went to the plate, a passed ball. Mayers lined out to left. Wings' safety to left sent Ritter to third. Cunningham's solidly, but Wingfield got his drive back of second, forcing Wing. While Ritter scored, then Graft's liner ended the agony.

TWELVE-YEAR-OLD GIRL DROWNED IN RIVER

Baltimore, May 31.—Alice Caperton Shaw, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Forbes Shaw, was drowned and five other small children, all members of the choir of St. Michael's and All Angels' Protestant Episcopal church, had a narrow escape when their row boat in which they were passengers capsized in the Severn river late yesterday.

Manhasset, N. Y., May 31.—Refreshed by his two day lay-off, Georges Carpentier called into work today with a spirit and seriousness that surprised even the easy-going manager, Descamps, and took the breath out of some of the sparring partners.

CARPENTIER RESUMES WORK AFTER DAY OF REST

Manhasset, N. Y., May 31.—Refreshed by his two day lay-off, Georges Carpentier called into work today with a spirit and seriousness that surprised even the easy-going manager, Descamps, and took the breath out of some of the sparring partners.

Soon after a hearty breakfast—Georges has acquired a huge appetite—the challenger took Italian Gino Campa and Edw. Jones for a sparring test over the roads in the large estate across from the camp. Half an hour's play with a soccer football, a bout of wrestling and shadow boxing, and a rough and tumble freestyle with Jones and Campa, followed by a morning program.

Descamps does not seem at Dempsey's ability; he is ignorant of the fact that the champion's blows are dangerous as ten kegs of dynamite in a fire.

However, Carpentier will be clever enough to evade the Dempsey's blows and will have enough punch in his right to provide a robin chorus for the champion.

Carpentier is developing his foot work, already remarkable for a heavy weight, and is working like a bit on the delivery of his hardest punches. In his work out he wore a new pair of boxing gloves, a tendency to lead with his right and leave his jaw uncovered, but in the private sessions behind the harbor it is different. The challenger's shift at these times is so well executed that his protection is perfect.

Today the challenger weighed 173 pounds, one-half pound more than when he started actual training ten days ago.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

New Orleans, May 31.—"Happy" Littleton, of New Orleans, knocked out Earl Baggington, of California, in the fourth round of a scheduled 12-round bout here tonight.

After a terrific session of milling, which took up some two minutes of the fight, Littleton swung a powerful left flush to the Mexican's jaw, not only knocking him down and out, but knocking out three teeth and loosening practically every tooth in Ortega's head. It took several minutes for the Mexican to get up. Littleton weighed 160½ pounds, and Ortega 158½.

Columbus, Ohio, May 31.—Eddie O'Dowd, Columbus flyweight, received the judges' decision over Harry Mansell of England, after a 12-round bout here tonight.

Just From Georgia

By FRANK L. STANTON.

"Feelin' Prime."

I.

Though you roll down from the

hilltop

Where you

struggled long

to climb,

Just smile, an'

meet your trouble.

An' say, you're

feelin' prime!

The world don't love the

growler—

You must whistle all the time!

II.

When the cyclone sends you flyin'

To the valley of despair,

Just say, instead of sighin'

You're right side up, with care!

The world don't love the growler—

You must whistle everywhere!

III.

It's the lesson Time is teachin'

To the country, day by day;

It's a lonesome habitation

Where the growlin' people stay!

When you fall, just rise an' holler

That you're up again... "Hoo-ray!"

IV.

Life isn't so full of trouble but

We can sometimes steal away and spend a holiday with joy.

V.

The Way of Modern Man.

"Those who think that modern man needs a whole lot more for his comfort than his predecessors would be agreeably surprised to hear that, as a matter of fact, the modern man gets along with much less," says

The Columbia Missourian. "In the last few years modern man has learned to get along with horseless carriages, fireless cookers, smokeless powder, wireless telegraphs, to say nothing of war days, when there were wheelless days and meatless

VI.

The Bird's Way.

I.

He's singin' whilst he's workin'

At the building of the nest.

As if he knew the merry way

Jes' all the time is best.

II.

Who knows but he's a-thinkin'

Of the happy home to be

Up yonder, in the green leaves

An' the shadows of the tree?

III.

There'll be a little family.

Right soon, a-comin' 'long.

An' maybe that's the meatin'

Of the music of his song?

IV.

Well, anyway, he's singin'

To the world an' to the skies;

It's the work you do for others

Makes life too sweet for sighs!

"These are growing days

GERMANS IN CLASH WITH REBEL POLES

75 Killed and 150 Wounded as Germans Completely Defeat the Attacking Poles at Annaberg.

Krapitz, Upper Silesia, May 31.—Sixty Polish soldiers and fifteen Germans were killed and 150 Poles and 50 Germans were wounded in a battle between the opposing forces at Annaberg, Upper Silesia, Tuesday.

The Poles made a determined attack on the town in an effort to extend their line and dislodge the Germans who have been in defense positions, waiting for permission to attack. The Poles were completely defeated and fell back from the town.

GERMAN LEADER REJECTS PROPOSAL.

Oberglogau, Upper Silesia, May 31. General von Hofer, commander of the German guards in this city, has declined to comply with the suggestion made by the inter-allied representatives that he negotiate with the Polish insurgents in an attempt to find a ground upon which the situation in Upper Silesia could be adjusted. General von Hofer appeared to be resentful that such a request had been made, saying that the Germans had gathered together forces for a great effort and that they would under no circumstances open conversations with the rebels.

The suggestion to General von Hofer is understood to have been made by a delegation of French and British officers, who pointed out the grave consequences that might result should the Poles attempt to exclude the British or carry out their threats to blow up mines and factories in the industrial districts. In British circles it was said today that it was known a number of towns had been mined and factories wired and explosives planted in them, but that it was believed this work had not been so widely planned as the Poles have asserted. The fear has been expressed in some sources that the insurgents will become discouraged in the event of a British and Italian advance and plunder, burn and kill.

Seemingly in support of this fear there recently have been reports that the Polish officers gradually have been losing command as pressure has been increased upon them. Their known policy is to force all men and boys into their organization. A number of deserters have informed the Germans that they were brought over the border unarmed and then given guns and told that they must fight.

RACES IN CLASH IN OKLAHOMA CITY

Tulsa, Okla., May 31.—One negro was killed and two whites and three negroes were wounded in race troubles here tonight when a score or more white persons armed clashed with about 200 armed negroes, who gathered in the vicinity of the court house after a negro had been arrested for an alleged attack on a white girl. Scattered firing continued near midnight when the body of the dead negro still lay in the street.

CONFIDENCE VOTED IN PREMIER BRIAND

are such that England is demanding a conference, while France is holding off.

The pretext given publicly is that Premier Briand is engrossed with the financial debates of the French senate. Further, it is pointed out that it is not necessary to call a meeting of the supreme council before naming the commission of experts, which is to sit at Oppeln, and pass on the Silesian problems. It is also suggested by the French that nominations for this commission be made through regular diplomatic channels, and in this connection the futility of a meeting of the council at this time is stressed.

It is agreed that such a meeting would avail nothing before the reports of the experts have been submitted as a basis for decision. The new note, just submitted, proposed joint Franco-British representations to Berlin and Warsaw, the inter-allied commission urging efforts to calm the Upper Silesians. Boulogne is tentatively designated as the meeting place. Great Britain is embarrassed by this insistence on the part of the commission for a conference, owing to the attitude of the French. At any rate, a conference this week-end is not likely.

Premier Briand seems to be sparing for time. Possibly he is desirous of forgetting his last tilt with Lloyd-George before again clinching with the British premier. Briand is also chary about meeting the little Weismann, since it is understood the British are prepared to ask France to renounce her customs control on the Rhine, and to evacuate Düsseldorf, Kugurt and Duisberg, in view of Germany's apparent sincerity in paying the billion marks that were demanded.

Old Policy Feared. While the press and the public generally are not as explosive toward England as they have been during the past two weeks, the feeling is deepened among the French that England is returning to the old policy of "knifing" the strongest European powers in order to maintain a balance and prevent anyone from becoming too powerful.

CANADIAN PLAN TO BE DISCUSSED.

London, May 31.—The Canadian proposal that Article 10 be eliminated from the league of nations covenant, will be discussed by the amendments committee of the league at its meeting here Wednesday.

Other proposed changes in the covenant, including suggestions submitted by Portugal, Colombia and the Scandinavian countries concerning league financial matters, will also be considered.

BAVARIA TO CARRY OUT TERMS, BELIEF.

Berlin, May 31.—Notwithstanding Bavaria's reluctance to disarm in accordance with the pledge of the German government, which is delaying the cabinet's progress with the reparations program there is a general belief in government circles that Bavaria eventually will conform to the national policy. The government has delivered to the entente a list of the military organizations which are to be disbanded.

Some of the troops of the French garrison in Düsseldorf are withdrawing from the city, according to unconfirmed reports heard in Berlin.

MANY URGE BONUS FOR SERVICE MEN

Memorial Day Briggs a Flood of Appeals by Mail to Congressmen and Senators.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON.
Constitution Bureau,
Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, May 31.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Members of congress from the south found their desks swamped today with appeals and inquiries relative to soldier bonus legislation, thousands of people having utilized a portion of the memorial holiday by a useful application of sentiment for the living soldiers who no less than the dead braved the trenches, but who fortunately survived. While southern members generally are in favor of a federal gratuity to the ex-service men there is a noticeable feeling against such measures growing in congress. In all frankness there is little prospect of early enactment of the bill which has been kept tied up in the senate for more than a year because of the treasury's critical financial situation. Leaders of both houses desire to delay action in the hope that virtually all states will grant gratuities.

And it is this granting of gratuities by states that has served to develop the growing sentiment in congress against a federal gratuity. To date twenty-six states have passed bonus laws. Pennsylvania's act was approved only last week. In several other states bonus proposals are before the legislature. Such a proposal, it is understood, will be made before the Georgia legislature in July.

It has been apparent that many members of both houses realized the measure was unwise because of the huge debt hanging over the treasury but felt that they were unable to stand the pressure from their districts. Should all the states act, it is believed, the total bonus distribution would be much greater than the amount provided in the pending bill, which is about $1,500,000,000, according to the most conservative estimates.

There is a feeling among congressional leaders that granting of a bonus is a problem that should be met by the states. The burden of the war fell on the federal treasury, while it affected the state treasuries but little.

In many states construction and improvement work stopped while federal expenditures mounted by leaps and bounds until the war debt reached the huge total of about $25,000,000,000, despite the greatest tax revenue in the history of the world.

"It is extremely dangerous for congress to grant a bonus at any time before 1923," said a prominent house leader today. "We have more than $7,000,000,000 worth of securities which will fall due by June 1, 1923. Tax revenues are shrinking and the people are demanding a lifting of the heavy war tax burdens. Taxes greater than those imposed during the war must be levied if we are to have a bonus law during the next few years. The country cannot stand it."

TRIAL OF CORBITT IN MURDER CASE IS SET FOR TODAY

Macon, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—John I. Corbitt, charged with the murder of Lee Massengale, did not go to trial in the Bibb superior court today as had been expected. The case was checked until tomorrow, because of the absence of a material witness. It was currently reported tonight that the case may be not proceed.

Massengale was shot on September 8, 1920, at the home of Corbitt, where he and Corbitt had gone after leaving the downtown district, where they went to hear the election returns. Both were drinking. It is claimed, and Corbitt asserts that after they reached his home they engaged in a friendly scuffle over a pistol, during the weapon was discharged and Massengale was fatally wounded.

The state claims Massengale told his father, while en route to the hospital, that Corbitt "shot me without cause."

Bolshevik Menace Denied in Mexico By Socialist Chief

Mexico City, May 31.—Bolshevism does not constitute a menace to Mexico, declared Antonio Diaz Soto y Gama, socialist leader, in the chamber of deputies last evening. Soto y Gama has long been recognized as a radical chief and has been charged by political opponents in the chamber with having planned the invasion of the lower house of the Mexican congress by alleged bolshevik two weeks ago. "Mexico is not prepared for bolshevism," he asserted, during the course of an address. "Its proletarian classes, because of their lack of education, experience and general worldly knowledge, are not in a position to supplant the present ruling class. Bolshevism, however, is ripe in England, France, Italy, even in the United States, but Mexico must wait for further development before such ideals can come to fruition here."

President Obregon declared in a recent statement that bolshevism was "conceived in Russia by the cars and not by the people of that nation."

"If the Russian people," he continued, "had enjoyed the liberties now enjoyed by the Mexican people, bolshevism would not have been known. I am of the opinion that the present Mexican government has not committed errors which would provoke a social upheaval of that kind."

TESTIMONY ENDS IN ASSAULT CASE IN CLARKE COURT

Athens, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—Testimony in the case of Tom Alexander, a young white man being tried at a special session of superior court here on a charge of assault on a white woman, was closed late this afternoon and court adjourned for the day.

Argument will begin on reconvening of court tomorrow, and it is expected the case will reach the jury by mid-afternoon. Six hours has been allowed for argument by the presiding judge.

WAREHOUSES BURNED IN ROCKMART FIRE

Rockmart, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—The warehouses of J. M. Cochran and Brooks and Nichols were destroyed here last midnight by fire. Twelve automobiles, 40 bales of cotton and various sorts of feedstuffs were destroyed in the J. M. Cochran warehouse. The Brooks and Nichols warehouse contained 100 bales of cotton, fully insured, but there was no insurance on the building. Both structures were new and built of corrugated iron.

SENATOR BORAH MAY NOT ARRIVE FOR BAR MEETING

Savannah, Ga., May 31.—(Special.) It is announced here that because of the continued consideration of the naval bill in which he is much interested, Senator William E. Borah, who was to have been the star speaker at the coming bar association meeting at Tybee, Thursday to Saturday this week, will not be able to come to the meeting.

While the senator declared it does not seem possible for him to leave, President Lawton, of the bar association, is still hoping that he may be able to reach Savannah by Saturday anyway.

The number of reservations already listed at the Hotel Tybee and at Savannah hotels, most of which date from north, northwest and northeast Georgia points, indicate that the attendance at the annual convention of the Georgia Bar association will be one of the most largely attended meetings the lawyers of the state have had in many years.

Campaign a Success.
The general announcements made by President Gaines were of unusual interest. The matter of greatest importance was the successful termination of the $750,000 endowment campaign, which has been recently waged. Included in the subscription list were the names of several of very great interest. One of these was a gift of $75,000.00 from a donor whose name is withheld at present. $2,000.00 came from members of the Freshman class this year who begged for an opportunity to have a part in the campaign.

A scholarship of $2,000.00 was announced from Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bell, of Lewisburg, West Virginia, in honor of Miss Nannie R. Maciste, who was for many years a professor in Agnes Scott college.

Another gift of interest which was made by Miss Mary Kirkpatrick, formerly a student of the college, and is to be known as the Louise McKinney Prize. It is to be awarded each year to the Agnes Scott girl who writes the best play and submits it within six months of her graduation.

President Gaines also announced the appropriation of $20,000.00 to erect an Alumnae house on the campus. This will stimulate the contribution to the fund which is being celebrated this week.

The university's endowment fund, President Alderman said, has passed the $1,000,000 mark.

BRENAU ALUMNAE GIVES BANQUET

Exhibits of Art and Domestic Science Departments Are Morning and Afternoon Features.

Gainesville, May 28.—The Brenau Alumnae were the honored guests at the annual banquet which was held in the main dining rooms of the college at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. Indeed, the Alumnae were given a true homecoming party, the delightful, enthusiastic and pleasant spirit for which Brenau is justly famous, accompanied every feature of the program.

The officers, the faculty, the seniors, the undergraduates who were present, and even the visitors, joined into the good spirit of fellowship that brought back to the Alumnae remembrances of their years at Brenau. Reminded them of the most thrilling hours they have ever spent—reminded some of them of how they had just squeezed through in Math—or how the dearest roommate imaginable, helped in the translation of Latin. It is these sort of personal touches that keeps Brenau closest to the heart-strings of the Alumnae.

Miss Ruth Conner, an alumna and an instructor in the Brenau School of Oratory, was toastmistress of the evening. Her opening remarks symbolized the work at Brenau with a mighty airplane, which with the uniting of its many important parts, might represent the progressive, ready to respond spirit of the school.

Toasts were given by Colonel H. H. Perry, Mr. Watters, Miss Thelma Kramb, Miss Edna Bradley, Professor H. J. Pearce, Jr., Professor Eli Allison and Miss Kate Dooler. Those who responded to the toasts were Dr. Simmons, Miss Adie Welch, Miss Marion Grisham, Mr. Hicks, Miss Nell Dimon and Dr. H. J. Pearce, who also congratulated the Alumnae on the number present, and extended them the "always hearty invitation" to visit Brenau.

Previous to the evening's banquet program, exhibits were conducted in the morning and afternoon in the respective departments of the art and domestic science classes.

The art exhibit consisted of the work done by the students in classes of china-painting, oil painting, pencil and pastel work. Distinctive color work on the numbers of china sets marks the individuality and refinement in the students' taste. The exhibit in the sewing department was unusually attractive, being composed of beautiful evening gowns and negligees, all of which the students had planned themselves, and designed and made under the direction of the instructor.

Classes in domestic science are conducted in a very realistic manner. In fact, it is claimed to be one of the most practical and modern methods of home training. Each class in its turn is given the complete supervision of a small bungalow, and a reasonable allowance for expenditure on food supplies, etc. They actually eat, sleep and live in the house for a definite period.

The educational value of this single feature is representative of the many benefits to be derived from all of Brenau's courses.

COMMENCEMENT SUNDAY OBSERVED IN BRENAU AUDITORIUM

Gainesville, May 29.—On this occasion the Brenau students, faculty and visitors were favored with an unusually interesting program.

The regular Sunday service was especially prepared; the musical program having been under the direction of Mr. Rogers, vocal instructor at the college, and the baccalaureate sermon being delivered by the Rev. J. W. King.

In the afternoon at 4:30 o'clock an elaborate musical program was given by the Brenau chorus, under the direction of Mr. Rogers.

Some of the best character acting was that of Marion Grisham, who took the part of a barrister. Her apparent unaffected attitude, typical of her part, was one of the humorous features of the play.

Those taking part were Ruth Carr, Benson, Floyd, F. Howard, Nina Thompson, Marion Grisham, Helen Freeman, Lonnie Benson, Irma Floyd, Geneva Williams, Sarah S. Smith, Kathryn Moran, Phylomae Davis.

"Sweet Lavender" is one of Arthur Pinero's old works. And although it has been staged by professional actors, and many times, it can always be received with present-day enthusiasm when presented with such an unusual amount of originality and talent as was characterized by the Brenau students. The latest presentation of "Sweet Lavender" has been on moving picture screen, with the same cast as the stage production.

Indeed, the Brenau dramatic was far above the amateur class, and a more cleverly staged production would not have been foreseen by the audience. Had they compared the expectations of seeing a display of talent equal to some of the modern stage productions, they would have been disappointed. It was the months of school the dramatic department stages on the average of about two plays every week.

BRENAU GIRLS BECOME EXPERIENCED RIDERS; COURSE IS ELECTIVE

One of the developments in the way of sports and athletics that is receiving considerable attention at Brenau is the course in riding. Miss Mansfield, who is instructor in gymnasium work, is directing the riding classes and although the course is not compulsory numbers of the students have eagerly taken active part in its rapid development.

The first class in riding was organized two years ago and since that time the school has succeeded in working out the most interesting plans, which have been instrumental in promoting the popularity and benefits to be derived from the course.

The original class was only large enough to require the keeping of two horses, while classes last semester were so large as to require the increased stable facilities in caring for the seven horses which are now in use.

The young lady posed in the above photograph is Miss Bena Boltin, of Gainesville, Fla. Miss Boltin has taken an active part in this particular course of training, and having won several honors of honor, she is one of the most expert of Brenau's expert horsewomen.

Numbers of the girls have become perfect riders and efficient horsewomen, and because of this training being entirely an elective course, one can understand and realize the interest and eagerness of every one of the girls who have taken part in it.

It is believed by the school officials, that the course in riding will greatly outgrow their expectations, and plans for more horses and further equipment are being formulated for the coming semester.

The riding classes are being held in the new stable building at Brenau and for one's physical development. The climate is bracing and the instruction is given by not only given the advantage of this special riding course, but are afforded the opportunity of enjoying one of the best and most completely equipped gymnasiums in the South.

The art exhibit consisted of the work done by the students in classes of china-painting, oil painting, pencil and pastel work. Distinctive color work on the numbers of china sets marks the individuality and refinement in the students' taste. The exhibit in the sewing department was unusually attractive, being composed of beautiful evening gowns and negligees, all of which the students had planned themselves, and designed and made under the direction of the instructor.

Classes in domestic science are conducted in a very realistic manner. In fact, it is claimed to be one of the most practical and modern methods of home training. Each class in its turn is given the complete supervision of a small bungalow, and a reasonable allowance for expenditure on food supplies, etc. They actually eat, sleep and live in the house for a definite period.

The educational value of this single feature is representative of the many benefits to be derived from all of Brenau's courses.

COMMENCEMENT SUNDAY OBSERVED IN BRENAU AUDITORIUM

Gainesville, May 29.—On this occasion the Brenau students, faculty and visitors were favored with an unusually interesting program.

The regular Sunday service was especially prepared; the musical program having been under the direction of Mr. Rogers, vocal instructor at the college, and the baccalaureate sermon being delivered by the Rev. J. W. King.

In the afternoon at 4:30 o'clock an elaborate musical program was given by the Brenau chorus, under the direction of Mr. Rogers.

BRENAU GIRLS BECOME EXPERIENCED RIDERS; COURSE IS ELECTIVE

One of the developments in the way of sports and athletics that is receiving considerable attention at Brenau is the course in riding. Miss Mansfield, who is instructor in gymnasium work, is directing the riding classes and although the course is not compulsory numbers of the students have eagerly taken active part in its rapid development.

The first class in riding was organized two years ago and since that time the school has succeeded in working out the most interesting plans, which have been instrumental in promoting the popularity and benefits to be derived from the course.

The original class was only large enough to require the keeping of two horses, while classes last semester were so large as to require the increased stable facilities in caring for the seven horses which are now in use.

The young lady posed in the above photograph is Miss Bena Boltin, of Gainesville, Fla. Miss Boltin has taken an active part in this particular course of training, and having won several honors of honor, she is one of the most expert of Brenau's expert horsewomen.

Numbers of the girls have become perfect riders and efficient horsewomen, and because of this training being entirely an elective course, one can understand and realize the interest and eagerness of every one of the girls who have taken part in it.

It is believed by the school officials, that the course in riding will greatly outgrow their expectations, and plans for more horses and further equipment are being formulated for the coming semester.

The riding classes are being held in the new stable building at Brenau and for one's physical development. The climate is bracing and the instruction is given by not only given the advantage of this special riding course, but are afforded the opportunity of enjoying one of the best and most completely equipped gymnasiums in the South.

BRENAU ALUMNAE GIVES BANQUET

Exhibits of Art and Domestic Science Departments Are Morning and Afternoon Features.

Gainesville, May 28.—The Brenau Alumnae were the honored guests at the annual banquet which was held in the main dining rooms of the college at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. Indeed, the Alumnae were given a true homecoming party, the delightful, enthusiastic and pleasant spirit for which Brenau is justly famous, accompanied every feature of the program.

The officers, the faculty, the seniors, the undergraduates who were present, and even the visitors,

Many Beautiful Weddings What the Brides Will Wear Will Mark Month of June

June and weddings—satin and tulle—roses and lilies; they are all at hand, and for everybody there is interest in at least one bride's plans if not many.

Some will be marked in very heavy letters on society's calendar, and most of them will figure even more conspicuously on the calendars of millions and millions.

What are the wedding plans going to wear? One of the most prominent of the inquiries was asked, when the brides refused, one and all, to divulge any particulars regarding the material of their dresses.

"For the formal wedding—the dress occasion—the wedding gown for this June will be the most popularly used of tulle, and the long trains will be of tulle. The skirts will be shorter than ever (but can it be done?) and not very full. The sleeves are again short."

A glance over the wedding plans so far announced, reveal the fact that many of the smartest of the wedding will properly be at night, although the afternoon and the evening ceremony are chosen by not a few brides.

The smartness of costume for the bride's attendants which has been quite a vogue last season will be in evidence in this month's weddings, the prevalence of bright color on all dress occasions having its marked influence on bridesmaids' array. Novelty, originality in wedding detail is being sought by most of the brides, instead of the former conventions when all color schemes, for instance, were patterned after a few stereotyped plans. The picturesque is again to be featured in costume and decoration.

Campbell—McKenna.

One of the most conspicuous of the June weddings will be that of Miss Joella Campbell and William Jay McKenna, of New York and Boston. While Miss Campbell has let make her bridesmaids wear the exact color of the wedding, it is quite certain, in view of the traditions of her family, that the event will be marked by the elegance and the beauty of the ideal home wedding with the presence of many similar events, memorable in the social records of the south to pattern it.

Nunnally—Westmoreland

The date of the marriage of Miss Nunnally and Westmoreland has been set for Wednesday evening, June 23, and will take place in the Baptist church in Monroe.

Miss Nunnally has spent much of her young ladyhood in Atlanta with her uncle, Charles T. Nunnally, and has nearly as many friends here as in New York. Many of these will go to Monroe for the wedding. The wedding decorations and the bridesmaids' flowers will be garden flowers.

One of the first of the parties in honor of Miss Nunnally and Mr. Westmoreland will be a dinner at the dinner-dance at the Richmond driving club Saturday.

Have you ever stopped to think that every time you spend a dollar for goods made at home, you are not only helping your home community—but you are HELPING YOURSELF?

This is easy to figure out. Home plants and factories employ thousands of home people. The greater sale of the products they make, naturally the more people are employed in their making. The money you spend for these goods goes right back into circulation, and before long it reaches you again.

Keeping your money thus at home builds up home enterprises, encourages the establishment of new industries, and adds in many ways to the growth and happiness of the home section.

U. S. NOTE DENIES DUTCH ASSERTIONS

Takes Exception to Position of Netherlands Government on Djambi Oil Fields Question.

Washington, May 31.—Exception to the assertions of the Netherlands government that the United States entered its protest against the Dutch oil policy in the Djambi oil fields too late to affect the operation of that policy is taken by the American government in a new note which it was announced today had been dispatched to The Hague.

Official description of the communication was withheld, but it is understood that it contains a general denial of assertions made in the Dutch reply of April 10 and that it makes clear to the Dutch foreign office that the United States has not altered its attitude with respect to discrimination against American oil interests.

The long history of the negotiations undertaken to obtain equal opportunity for American oil companies in the Dutch East Indies has been summarized in the new note, and it is said, specific instances are cited to show that the American government called to the attention of the Dutch government the acts indicating discrimination long before the bill closing the fields was introduced in the chamber of deputies.

It was explained that two months after representations had been made by the American minister an application for concessions had been made by the American oil company and that it was not until a month afterward that the bill was brought before the chamber. That bill has been passed by the second chamber and is now under consideration by the first.

In the note it is understood not to contain anything which might be construed as a threat, it is said, and it is pointed out that the modification of the law is a provision in the note of April 19 that it might become necessary for the United States to adopt some new policy towards the Dutch government.

It was explained that the United States is not a party to the dispute, and that the United States is not a party to the dispute, and that the United States is not a party to the dispute.

MANNING CONVICTED;
IS GIVEN LIFE TERM

clides to try either Manning or Williams and makes proper application to me, I will consider the matter and render a decision," he said.

Following the dramatic statement of Manning to the jury, during which he broke down and cried, the state offered no rebuttal, but closed its case.

Mr. Howard declared that Manning walked about the farm in the capacity of a farm "boss," and that it was not shown conclusively by the defense that Manning was in fear of his own life.

"There will be one question for you to decide," Attorney Howard told the jury. "That is, was Manning legally responsible for these killings? The testimony of the Williams, which has been introduced, and Manning's own testimony here, leave no doubt that he killed the men."

"You must distinguish between moral responsibility and legal responsibility. If a drunken man kills another he is not morally responsible, but he is certainly legally responsible."

The law says a man is coerced when, through fear, the will of another is forced upon him. That will be your question.

When the afternoon session was convened, Judge Meadows opened argument for the defense. He complimented Mr. Howard on his fair presentation of the state's case, but declared that the prosecution's own witnesses had given better evidence for the defense.

"Is there any evidence in this case to show that Manning committed these crimes on his own free will and volition?" he asked. "The state has failed to make out its case. It may be that the defendant should have escaped, but I tell you that fourteen years on the plantation would have been enough to keep him there. He acted under threats and menaces of Williams and cannot be held responsible for the murders."

"I ask of you, and I believe that when you go into the jury room, not let the fact that the defendant is a black man influence you in making your verdict."

BOARD ABSOLVES PILOT IN TRAGEDY

Washington, May 31.—Investigation by the inspector-general of the army of the airplane crash at Morgantown, Md., Saturday, in which four officers and an enlisted man in the army and two civilians lost their lives was ordered today by Secretary Weeks. Instructions transmitted by Major General March, chief of staff, directed that every angle of the disaster be carefully reviewed. The report will form the basis for any further action which may be directed upon by the war department.

Lieutenant Stanley Ames, pilot of the Curtiss Eagle army airplane is exonerated of all blame for the accident in the formal report of the board of investigation, submitted today to Major M. P. Scanlon, commandant at Bolling field.

The accident, in the opinion of the board of three army aviation officers, was absolutely unavoidable and was due entirely to the storm into which the plane was driven returning from Langley field, Va., to Washington.

The report was submitted to Major Scanlon just before the commandant and his staff left the flying field for Washington to attend the funeral of Lieutenant Ames, Captain William C. Ocker was senior officer of the board, and the other members were Lieutenants Paul T. Wilkins and L. M. Wolfe.

The board's findings were based on a study of the wreckage of the big plane and the testimony of persons in the vicinity of Morgantown who saw the wreckage. The report says the wreckage did not show any evidence of structural failure and the findings of the board, it is understood, do not attribute the crash to any fault of the machine.

The board also expressed the opinion that Lieutenant Ames, the pilot, had no opportunity to go around or over the violent thunderstorm, in which his plane was caught.

The report was transmitted by Major Scanlon to Major General Menoher, chief of the army air service. Its text was withheld, pending a careful study by General Menoher.

COMPANY WANTS FULL INVESTIGATION.
New York, May 31.—The Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor corporation announced today that it had notified government officials of its desire for a full investigation into the character of the Curtiss Eagle army airplane that crashed near Morgantown, Md., Saturday night, killing seven persons.

"We hope the findings of this investigation will be made public," said the statement. "We have complete faith in the ship, and are willing to rest upon the testimony of the many army and civilian aviators who have flown it during more than a year of safe and successful operation."

UNIVERSITY NEEDS SHOWN TO ALUMNI

of facts. The University of Georgia has outgrown its present equipment. The present dormitories were built for 375 students. There are more than 1,200 in college now. This condition is true likewise of laboratories and class rooms.

"We simply want to live up to the provisions of the charter which was granted before the constitution of the United States was adopted," said the chancellor. "That charter recites that the purpose of the university is for society to put a formative hand on the youth of the state, so that it may grow up to virtue and good citizenship. And never before in the history of the state has Georgia needed this formative hand so badly as now," he declared.

In speaking of the campaign, Dr. Barrow said that it was not the begging wall of the board of trustees for more money, but it was the generous shout of an offer of assistance by the alumni, who loved the school and who loved the state. He then pleaded with those at the tables to see that when the campaign is launched on October 11 to close Armistice day that there is no failure.

An encouraging report on the status of the campaign was made by Harry Hodgson, of Athens, who is doing field work. At the close of the dinner practically all present signed cards volunteering their services during the month of work.

COTTON ACREAGE LOWEST IN 20 YEARS

In the event of better weather in the course of the next few weeks will enable farmers to push planting operations rapidly. Furthermore, the availability of labor should have considerable influence later in the season in offsetting, at least to some extent, the lessening in the use of commercial fertilizers, also enabling the plant to better resist the ravages of weevils and other insects. The season is estimated as 15 days late.

An analysis of the returns by states shows reductions in acreage in all of the cotton states without exception. Texas reports a decline of 2.2 per cent against an increase of 3.0 per cent a year ago. Likewise Alabama acreage has been reduced 34.3 per cent against a gain of 1.5 per cent in May, 1919. In Oklahoma, which reported an increase of 1.5 per cent, the first named there has been a cut of 33.0 per cent. Mississippi estimates are for a reduction of 22.8 per cent and Arkansas 30.0 per cent. North Carolina's acreage is reduced 37.0 per cent. South Carolina 27.7 per cent and Georgia 27.3 per cent. Florida and Missouri are the heaviest losers in the list, the first named showing a cut of 35.5 per cent and the latter 27.3 per cent.

In the matter of per cent condition, some improvement is shown over a year ago, notably in Texas, where the cotton condition is 73.3 per cent against 68.5 per cent, and Alabama, where it is shown to be 64.2 per cent against 61.6 per cent. In the Carolinas condition fails better, at 66.4 per cent, comparing with 62.3 per cent. Missouri also shows betterment, being 73.3 per cent against 65.0 per cent.

BRITISH-JAP PACT FAVORED BY U. S.

will immediately start public discussions throughout the world and pave the way to some effective action.

For Disarmament.
Both England and the United States, as indicated by official feelers, sent out from time to time, are anxious to reduce armament. Neither, therefore, would wish to see in the Anglo-Japanese pact, an obstruction.

Anglo-Japanese treaty was being drafted in 1901, article four was inserted in the interest of the United States, reading as follows: "Should either high contracting party conclude a treaty of general arbitration with a third power, it is agreed that nothing in this agreement shall entail upon such contracting party an obligation to go to war with the power with whom such treaty of arbitration is in force."

At the time the U. S. and Great Britain were negotiating one of Bryan's arbitration treaties. While this treaty was never ratified, a later "peace commission treaty" between the two powers, negotiated September 15, 1914, between former Secretary of State Bryan and the late British ambassador to Washington, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, was effected and is still in existence. While this is not essentially an arbitration treaty, it amounts to much the same thing and in answer to interpolations from members of commons early in March this year, the British government representative declared that article four in the Anglo-Japanese pact, would be applicable to this "peace commission treaty."

The question raised in commons frankly revealed the concern of members of that body at the possible effect of the Anglo-Japanese pact on America's naval building program. This has now reached the point in both countries where the "open air diplomacy" would appear to have been deemed necessary.

Safeguarding Clause.
It is held certain here that in renewing its treaty with Japan, En-land will again embody a provision even more clearly showing that under existing arrangements between the U. S. and Great Britain, any war in which Japan might become involved with the United States would not automatically draw England to the side of the Orientals.

And it may be stated further, it is the understanding here, supported by recent utterances of leading Japanese statesmen, that Japan will readily assent to such and article, the language of course, as in the case of article four in the present treaty, applying to both of the contracting parties and not specifically mentioning any third power in question.

Authorities here who feel that there is more reason for England and Japan continuing their alliance than there is for discontinuing it, point out that their combined interests in eastern Asia and India are as menacing today by Bolshevikism as they were in 1901 by the possibility of Russo-German aggression, which resulted in the original pact. This country's sole interest in the pact, it is explained, is to see that it does not endanger our open door policy in the far east and embrace a binding agreement between Japan and England which might cause us military concern. And as the pact is finally drawn, it is believed here, there will be no cause for alarm by the United States on either score. There will be nothing in it, further, to cause any one to believe that any way block Anglo-American aims to reduce armaments.

WILLIAMS TAKES OATH OF PAUPER IN FILING APPEAL
Covington, Ga., May 31.—(Special.)—John S. Williams, owner of the Jasper county "murder farm," and reputed to have been a wealthy planter, signed a "pauper's oath" to carry his appeal for a new trial to the Georgia supreme court, an examination of the clerk of the New-Town superior court records revealed tonight.

In addition to this it was reported here that Williams' three sons, Marvin, Huland and Leroy, had sold over eighty bales of cotton on the large plantation just before they escaped from the state during the trial of their father.

Those acquainted with the affairs of Williams state that, as a result of his sale, the expense of his trial and a heavy loss sustained when work was interrupted on his plantation, that it is badly incumbered. The announcement, however, that he was unable to pay a fee of $10 in filing his appeal to the supreme court, came as a surprise to everyone here. Dr. Gus Williams, one of his sons, now has charge of the plantation. Williams is now under a life sentence for the murder of Lindsey Peterson one of his former employees.

BRYAN TO RUN FOR U. S. SENATE FROM FLORIDA
BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN, Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, May 31.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—The formal announcement by Colonel William Jennings Bryan in New York today that he has made Florida his legal home, confirms the exclusive story published in The Constitution a month ago to that effect, which was the first public intimation in the press of the country of Colonel Bryan's future political plans.

That he has given up all hope of ever becoming a candidate for president again is now assured, but that he plans to run for the United States senate against Senator Park Trammell, incumbent, whose term expires March 4, 1922, is also assured.

Colonel Bryan's first cousin, W. S. Jennings, was a governor of Florida nearly twenty years ago, and it is known the former Nebraskan has for years had the ambition to represent Florida in the United States senate in the event his chances for becoming president failed entirely from his hopes.

Diplomas Awarded Tuesday To Fifty High School Boys

Before a capacity audience of friends and relatives the fifty members of the graduating class of the Boys' High school received their diplomas last night in the Wesley Memorial auditorium, the coveted documents being presented by W. W. Gaines, president of the board of education. An interesting program of musical selections by the Boys' High orchestra and the Mandolin club, with the award of scholarships and a number of addresses, was presented.

W. F. Dykes, superintendent of schools, presided and made an address lauding the individual attainments of the graduates and commending highly the work of the faculty of Boys' High school.

Mr. Dykes pointed out that many of the most prominent men of Atlanta are graduates of Boys' High, and stated that the principles upon which the school was founded were responsible for the high place it held among the city's educational institutions. He especially commended the untiring efforts of its principal, H. O. Smith.

The graduates, dressed in white trousers, blue coats and crimson cravats, formed a semi-circle on the stage.

Ten graduates received honorary mention by Mr. Smith, being termed "graduates with distinction." As a token of appreciation of their efforts and scholastic abilities, each was awarded a scholarship in some university. They were: A. Shamos, W. C. Carter, Jr., E. A. Hartsock, W. P. Heath, R. C. DeSaussure, H. L. Carlisle, O. M. Jackson, C. J. Kimball, L. A. Hawkins and L. Herman. A short word of praise for each was given by Mr. Smith as he announced the name of the institution to which they had been awarded scholarships.

The cup offered by The Atlanta Journal for the "all-round best student," excelling in every line of endeavor, was awarded to Walter Colquitt Carter, Jr.

Rev. W. S. Martin gave the invocation, followed by an address to the graduates by W. L. McCall.

Rivals for Hand Of Girl Quarrel And One Is Shot

Fred Bush Shot Twice by Virgil Taylor, Who Later Surrenders.

Fred Bush, a young white man formerly of Covington, Ga., was shot twice Tuesday night by Virgil Taylor, aged 24, a taxi driver living at 53 Richardson street. The affair occurred on Carnegie Way, in front of Waller's waler stand, and is alleged to have been the outcome of a quarrel over a girl, with whom both men are in love.

Bush only sustained slight flesh wounds. He was arrested of a disorderly conduct charge, and later released on $200 bond. The shooting caused considerable excitement in the vicinity, and in the rush of crowds to the scene Taylor escaped, surrendering, however, about 11 o'clock to the police.

When arrested, Bush at first declined to discuss the affair, and the true facts of the case were ascertained only after the surrender of Taylor. Taylor alleged that he did not shoot until Bush had struck him twice across the face with a cane.

Taylor surrendered to officers Cartwright and Johnson at the corner of Ellis and Peachtree streets. He was released in $500 bond, charged with shooting at another man.

Bonds Sold to Bank.
Elberton, Ga., May 31.—(Special.) The recent issue of $65,000 bonds by the city of Elberton was sold to the First National Bank of Elberton, at practically par. This is the largest bond transaction of any local institution. This bank has practically completed its new $150,000 building and will move into it tomorrow.

The Test of Comparison

YOUR purchase of an automobile, if wisely made, will be determined only after a down-right, relentless, through comparison of values.

Your first impression will be favorable to those cars which dare invite comparison.

Your investment will be made in that car which stands the acid test—with a wide margin to spare.

You buy other things that way—why not automobiles?

Compare Today's Oakland Six with any car you may be thinking of buying.

Then judge for yourself which car possesses the greatest value for you.

You can prove Oakland value if you will. It is easy to do.

Above all, test Today's Oakland overhead valve engine. Compare it for power, performance, economy.

You will learn that its new light weight pistons are now made of an aluminum alloy that is very light and tough.

They are self-adjustable to the cylinder walls.

You will learn we are now honing the cylinder bores to the perfect smoothness of glass.

You will find them absolutely round and straight up and down.

You will find we have effected an exceptionally close piston fit, at the same time avoiding the possibility of their sticking or freezing.

In these new pistons we have created a piston efficiency that is not surpassed, if equaled, in any other engine.

Today's Oakland Six sells at $1145 for the open cars and $1815 for the closed models, f.o.b. Pontiac—$250 less than they sold prior to May 9th.

What car at Oakland's price has a six-cylinder engine? There is none.

What car at Oakland's price has as much horsepower—44 H.P. at 2600 R. P. M. or 1 H.P. to every 55 pounds of car weight? There is none.

What car at Oakland's price has as long a wheel base—115 inches? There is none.

What car at Oakland's price produces greater gasoline economy—18 to 25 miles to the gallon? There is none.

What car at Oakland's price has as wide seats both front and rear? There is none.

What car at any price has as low a center of gravity, insuring the highest percentage of safety on the road? There is none.

These are the essentials that, when compared with price, establish value.

190-196 West Peachtree Street

A Car With a Real Romance.

THE FAMOUS STUTZ BEARCAT ROADSTER once owned by Mr. Bradstreet and more recently by Nat McWhorter, Courtland street's delectable white kid, is now available at a very low figure. It is a very powerful, high-class car painted a vivid yellow.

This car was one of the best ever made and has been driven by Mr. Katherine Bradstreet at the pass used by the hands of McWhorter, who, in giving his trade in Henry, needed a car of utmost power and speed. Isn't that a romance for a car? Make a reasonable offer. The bookkeeper's bill means your gain. Call PARKS NEWS, Police Reporter Constitution, between 5 and 6 p. m.
